

Supreme Court Declares Social Credit Ultra Vires

Chief Justice Duff Declares Entire Social Credit Scheme Illegal; Three Alberta Bills Are Ultra Vires, High Court Finds

By T. A. WINDROSS

EDMONTON.—Although it received scant attention from the Legislature, by far the most important development of last week concerning the Alberta Government was the fact that the Social Credit Act—the legislation which the House passed a year ago as the basis of all its purported Social Credit program—was declared ultra vires by the Supreme Court of Canada.

That declaration itself did not make the act illegal, because it was merely an opinion expressed by the Chief Justice of Canada, Sir Lyman Duff, on an act which had not specifically been referred to the court, but that the belief was general that if any taxpayer took to court, for litigation, any act based on that act, he would have to do no more than present a certified copy of the Ottawa judgment in order to have the act officially declared unconstitutional and illegal.

Has Not Operated
The Social Credit Act has been almost entirely inoperative. By that people it was intended since the day it was passed as illegal legislation, pretending to provide for new system of trade and commerce as well as bank within the province. But everyone has been content to let it go unchallenged, because it was known that, like two earlier acts which it replaced, it was placed upon the statute books without much hope by the government that it could ever be affected any more than by setting up a Social Credit board to beat the drum for the sake of public opinion.

But the Supreme Court of Canada had no power to compel the wisdom of making no mention of it for the sake of political expediency. The court could deal only with law, regardless of the results. And because the act was illegal legislation, the court could do nothing but say so when it was asked by the province and the Dominion to pass judgment upon the three bills passed last October and based upon the Social Credit act.

There is general hope among parties opposed to Social Credit

High School Students Will Present Two Plays

Two one-act plays will be presented to the public by the Dramatic Classes of Lacombe High School, Grades 9 and 10, assisted by the Grade 10 music class, in the school auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday, March 23 and 24.

The first play is entitled "Why the Chinese Hang" and is centered around the 11th century, about a cathedral town, and developing the theme, "the spirit behind the call."

The second play is entitled "The King's English," and while the title does not convey it, deals with life on a cathedral island, and the marriage problem of a perplexed father, with an eligible daughter, father and daughter, by the way, are neither cannibals or natives. Both plays will be well worth seeing and promise to provide real entertainment each evening.

Mrs. Abs Parker Wins Radio Contest

In the Sunday night broadcast from CICA, Mrs. Abs Parker of the Canyon district was announced as winner of first prize in the "Gully or Not Gully" contest sponsored by the Crescent Furniture Co. of Edmonton. Mrs. Parker was presented with a new cushion as first prize as a result of her letter, giving the verdict on a pseudo-court case, broadcast on Feb. 27, being adjudged best of any received.

Congratulations, Mrs. Parker.

This Week's Thought

It is better to fight for the good, than to rail at the ill.

Sunny Crest Children Entertain Parents With Enterprise Work

(From Our Own Correspondent)

SUNNY CREST.—Parents in the district received an invitation from their children last week to visit the school on Friday afternoon, March 4, to see their display of Enterprise Work. Not very many parents responded, but those who were interested enough to attend were entertained with a program of three parts, put on by the children.

On the sand table and around were displayed the handwork of the children, portraying Indian life. There were wigwams, Indians and buffalo of paper, emblems of birch bark, an Indian canoe in its leather cradle, drums, a travois and decorated pottery made of flour and salt.

Reed received first prize for his travois. Arthur Woods received second prize for his Hazel Woods and Dorothy Crookover won special prizes for their paper houses.

The parents who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Woods, Mrs. McCreedy, Mrs. Dole, who were delighted with the work of the children.

College Students Present Concert

The Canadian Junior College presented a Musical Concert in St. Andrew's United Church on Tuesday. Proceeds are to go to the United Church choir. Much credit should go to C. Maurice Monks, director of the 16-piece orchestra, for the success of the concert. The Male Chorus, directed by Joe Hardy, received a much deserved encore.

Those Wilkes, on behalf of the choir, thanked the Canadian Junior College for their kindness. The choir served lunch in the basement of the church, where about 60 members of the C.J.C. and choir spent a pleasant hour.

SUNNY CREST.—Miss Phyllis Kamah is home again and convalescing slowly. Mrs. Powers was surprised last week-end by a visit from her daughter Elsie from Edmonton. Mrs. W. Dredler and family were Sunday visitors at the McNeill home.

The Sunday School teachers met at the home of Mr. Mathews this week to arrange for an Easter program.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Fisher were visitors at the Woods home on Tuesday.

BIRTHS AT THE LACOMBE HOSPITAL

To Mr. and Mrs. T. Russell of Joffre, a son, Feb. 23. To Mr. and Mrs. E. Westling of Clive, a daughter, Feb. 28. To Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Perkins, Lacombe, a daughter, March 1. To Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wood, Red Deer, a daughter, March 2.

Proceeds of First Lacombe Horse Sale Held in 1925, Total $5884

With less than a week to go before the Horse Sale, Jesse Fraser, secretary, reports 700 entries, an increase of 100 over the previous "high."

Anyone having rooms available in town during the days of the sale are requested to contact Jesse Fraser at the hotel, expected that the rooming capacity of the town will be taxed to meet the demand for rooms from the many visitors expected.

The first Lacombe Farmers' Horse Sale was held in Lacombe in 1925 in the old Sales Pavilion built by the Lacombe Farmers' Association. It was then owned by Jack MacKenzie, J. W. Bidanda, J. M. Douglas, John Ellis and Jesse Fraser were the founders and the officers of this sale, and these men have continued to determine the policy of the thirteen sales held since that date.

Previous to the inception of the sales, buyers from eastern Canada travelled throughout the district buying horses in small quantities, and seeing their buying expenses materially through their extensive search for good grade horses. The farmers themselves paid these high travelling expenses by receiving lower prices for their horses.

NO WEDNESDAY HALF-HOLIDAY MARCH 16
All stores and places of business in Lacombe will remain open Wednesday afternoon, March 16, to cater to the large number of visitors expected to attend the Lacombe Farmers' Horse Sale on March 15 and 16.

Students' Union Sends Petition To School Board

Students Ask for Extension of 12 P.M. Time Limit on High School Dancers, Turned Down

A petition from the local High School Students' Union executive, asking for an extension of the 12 p.m. time limit on High School dances, was dealt with by the School Board at its regular monthly meeting held on Monday night. The petition, signed by Laurie Hainsworth, president, and Doris Danner, secretary, and stated in part: "We, the executive, feel that a successful party cannot be held within the allotted time." After considerable discussion the School Board instructed the secretary to reply stating that until the pupils themselves showed an inclination to start their dances earlier in the evening, the Board cannot consider their request to change present regulations.

A letter was received by the School Board from Military District No. 13, Calgary, stating that the cadet corps at the local school is inactive, subject to disbandment, which will be granted on request of the School Board.

The Principal's report showed enrollment for the month of February totalled 407, with public school attendance at 263, High School 100, Commercial 29 and the night classes 3.

Weddings

SOLOMONS—BRUNSMAN

A pretty wedding took place in the Dutch Reform Church at Spruceville last Sunday, when Miss Annie Brunsmann, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brunsmann, was married to Herman Solomon. The bride was worn in a white angelkin dress trimmed with lace and veil held by a pretty head ornament.

On Monday evening a party was held in the church to celebrate the wedding and the festivities were kept up until the closing hours of the morning. On Tuesday the newlyweds left by car for a honeymoon, to be spent around Iron Springs.

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1938

Something to be Proud of NEXT Tuesday and Wednesday Lacombe plays host to visitors and residents of surrounding districts who will attend the Fourteenth Annual Lacombe Farmers' Horse Sale. For the two days the Central Alberta Pavilion will ring to the query, "Who said $100—did you say $100?" as over 600 horses are hustled through the auction ring. Last year the 540 horses sold netted farmers over $30,000—of which sum more than 85 per cent went to residents of the Lacombe district. Sales are expected to net almost as large a sum this year, and possibly more.

Fifty thousand dollars is a large sum of money, and shows the value of co-operation. By banding themselves together and selling as a single body, the farmers of this district have slashed selling costs, and reached more profitable markets through the attendance at these sales of buyers from all parts of Canada. Tapping the eastern market in this manner has proved profitable to the farmers in the past, and is proving indispensable in these days of keen competition.

It was only fitting the Mayor should recognize the importance of this big annual event in our town by declaring the usual weekly half-holiday suspended next Wednesday, which will enable all stores and business houses to cater to our visitors and neighbors.

Lacombe has become famous for its Horse Sale, which has grown since its inception to be one of the biggest Horse Sales in Canada.

And so its yo-ho for another Horse Sale—and may your visit in Lacombe be profitable and enjoyable.

Better Seed - Better Yield

THIS is the time of the year when farmers will be giving much thought to the coming season's crops, and the one uppermost in their minds will be the securing of their seed. If Western Canada is to maintain the reputation already gained for it in world wheat markets, it becomes increasingly necessary to give greater attention to the kind of seed sown. It cannot be denied that other wheat growing countries have been making a steady inroad on the famous quality of Canadian wheat, and the Argentine, for one, has been steadily raising the quality of its wheat exports, which means that Canada must redouble its efforts to maintain its world-wide reputation for this product.

The governments of the Western Provinces, together with grain companies, have been doing their best, with an educational campaign, to encourage the farmers to use registered and certified seed of the best quality, so that a higher grade of crop can be realized. The same amount of work is entailed in preparing the land, harvesting, threshing and hauling a poor grade crop as a crop of high grade. Which is the more profitable to the farmer is obvious. Registered seed, like pedigreed stock, produces the best price when it reaches the market. The farmer himself is the best judge to decide the variety of wheat his land is best suited for, but the quality of seed he uses will be the determining factor in the final dollar and cents return.

Time For Action Has Arrived

THE question of Japanese penetration of industry on our Pacific Coast has once again become front page news as Premier Pattullo of British Columbia demands abrogation of the pact allowing 150 Japanese to enter Canada yearly. Illegal entry of Japanese into British Columbia, long rumored but never proved, is to be checked. Restrictions on the issuance of fishing licenses to Japanese would be placed by Premier Pattullo, who demands of the Dominion Government a thorough house cleaning of this problem on Canada's west coast.

We in Alberta are probably all too prone to consider this matter lightly, but it is inevitable that what is British Columbia's predicament today will be Alberta's predicament tomorrow, as Japanese flood inland to the prairies in search of "greener fields."

This Japanese problem is not confined to Canada. Australia, United States and the western countries of South America are fighting daily this peaceful penetration of their respective industries. Steps have been taken in these lands to combat this menace—but Canadians have been singularly passive regarding this threat.

The evil is more apparent when we see thousands of Canadians in British Columbia on relief roles because of the price-cutting invidious worming-in of the Japs in the major industries of the province. With a standard of living far below that of the ordinary white man, the Japs in B.C. are throttling industries just as Japan as a country is threatening world trade.

Premier Pattullo has said, in effect, that the rising sun of Japan in Canada must set—his is a worthy crusade, and worthy of what support Canadians may render it.

Through the Eyes of a Country Woman

By BRIDGET

Among the many bad, indifferent and rubbishy films that are produced for our edification, once in a while there is made a film that is so outstanding that it leaves one with a sense of amazement. Such a film has just been released, and is called "Gold Is Where You Find It." Based on the second gold rush in California, in the eighteen-seventies, it is filled with sane thoughts, and it is impossible to come away from such a film without having had one's soul stirred by the realization of the futility of the ceaseless search for gold. At the beginning of the film we are shown the beautiful, fertile land of California in 1877—growing golden with the wheat grown by the honest, hard-working farmers who had tilled the land, and made it arable; we are also shown the great ranches, flourishing in that period, and the beginning of fruit farming.

We are shown small flashes of the previous panning of gold in the first gold rush, by hand; then we see the new method, just invented, of wrestling gold from the land by mechanical means—through hydraulic power. We see the ghastly wrecking of God's good earth through man's insensate lust for gold. The country is laid waste before the fury of the jets of water hurled on it; great trees undermined by the water washing their very roots from the soil. Needless to say, wells became contaminated in time, temporary dams and levees were built by the farmers to protect their property. The film then takes us to San Francisco to see how this wealth was being used. Beautiful women were spending it on clothes and many foolish indulgences; one cannot blame them, for men were pouring wealth into their laps, and spending vast sums themselves in the saloons and gambling dens of the city.

The owners of the mine, however, were not fully satisfied with the output of their property, but wanted more money—more money for their pleasure. And so the waste went on, recombined, twenty-four hours a day. The man-made rivers overflowed; the fields of golden grain were flooded, and the farmers were desperate. They sought an injunction to prevent the mine owners destroying their property. Before it was granted, blood was shed, homes were wrecked, women and children drowned, in sight of their helpless husbands, when their houses collapsed on them. The injunction was granted, but the miners were armed by the owners and shot anyone who tried to serve the necessary legal documents. Many precious lives were lost before the whole disastrous business was stopped by the former manager, annihilating the dam that supplied the water power.

At the second court action, where the injunction was upheld, the judge made this striking statement: "No one is justified in destroying one man's living to gain his own ends." "His own ends," and for what? Why destroy large acreages of grain which would feed many souls, to gain gold for a few who spent it in "riotous living," putting the surplus which they could not possibly spend into bank vaults, where it did no one any good? Human beings certainly are foolish; they grub for gold, and get it out of the earth by the sweat of someone's brow, then hurry with it and put it back in the earth in the vaults of their respective banks. There are many lessons to learn in this film. Seeing it once, I could not grasp it all. I did feel, however, that it was trying to depict the futility and wrongness of striving after great wealth to the detriment of others. California enjoyed, and does enjoy, exceptional blessings, but the vandals were not satisfied—they destroyed the land and laid it waste to gain the gold of their desire. It is quite a thought, this—why should a few prosper at the expense of the majority? Why should one person receive a return of many hundreds per cent, and another work for fifty cents a day? Why, if we want to come back to the land, should anyone even be allowed to own land? The world was created for human beings impartially. Gold is where you find it—the accumulation of great wealth gotten by sharp practices is apt to turn out "fool's gold."

Those who have gained a good living through decency and work, and without having injured anyone in the process, are surely the owners of great wealth, more vast and lasting than mere gold. The exploitation of any individual is apt to react on somebody else. After all, why is gold valuable? Only through man having made it a medium of exchange, and thereby having given it a fictitious worth. The real wealth of a nation is its ability to produce and supply the needs of its people, and having done so, be in a position of having a surplus with which to trade for things not possible to produce within its own confines. Gold does not enter into this, except insofar as man has put this fictitious value on these pieces of yellow metal taken out of the earth. Anything, if agreed upon, could be made a medium of exchange. But as long as we accept gold as our medium, so long will man fight and sweat for it, and be blind to the gold which lies around to their very hands. The happy home, with a sufficiency to supply the needs thereof, should be good enough for us, and it is with this in mind, I believe this film was made, to hammer into us that "Gold is where you find it."

MORE HOWLERS

A teacher sends the following selection of "howlers" from his collection:

"A synagogue is something like a church, that is, a place where sinners worship."

"The King was crowned in Westminster Abbey with his sceptre in his hand."

"There are many kinds of eligible fish in the North Sea."

"In Henry VIII's reign the most turbulent barons received a cheque from their king."

Judge: Americanisms—Voting to set the speed limit at 45 miles an hour; demanding a car that will do 40.

"Cook-ee"

(Helper in a Rocky Mountain lumber camp writes to her chum in the city).

By VIOLA MACDONALD

"Cook-ee," a lumber camp helper in the Rocky Mountain region, writes to her chum in the city of her varied experiences. This story will be published in letter form, one appearing each week in the Western Globe until its conclusion. It will mean much fun for you, to figure out the climax to this interesting story.

Rocky Mountain Lumber Camp, Nov. 1st, 1937

Dear Naomi.—Remember the last time I saw you—in Edmonton—when I thought I was going to land that stenog. job up in the Agency Building? Well, I didn't—but I got stuck—in a lumber camp. I'm what they call the "Cook-ee"—and Cook-ee in a lumber camp means "Cook's helper, pot-stirrer and general flunk."

I came out here yesterday in a truck, over the roughest road I ever saw—dogging in and out among stumps and trees and cardinal directions will never again mean anything to me. If we had gone much further I'm sure we would have landed back in my home town of Lacombe—that is, if the world really is round—of which I have my doubts, and just in case those old philosophers were right, I'm not going a step away from the cook house, for fear of dropping off into oblivion.

I've just finished "weeping" my way through the making of hamburgers—ground up a bushel of raw beef and onions. Hoy—the onions out here are stronger than civilization!—ANNE.

Rocky Mountain Lumber Camp, Nov. 10, 1937.

Dear Naomi.—If you're ever hunted by the police as disappointed in love—come out here, where only the tall trees whisper heart to heart. There are no necking parties—in fact, as near as I can find out, there are only three women here—Alice, the Boss' daughter, very refined and dignified; Cook—40 and what one might call a spinster, and myself—and you know me, with all those freckles. Cook's a good egg, though—very considerate of me and seems to know I'm a greenhorn in love—work.

I forgot to tell you how I happened to get out here; you see it was like this: My Dad used to know the Boss years ago, and well, it just seemed as though I simply couldn't get any kind of office work—had my diploma from Business College a year now and a lot of good it's done me! This job is better than nothing and not too bad during waking hours. It's the dishes I wash in my sleep that's wearing me out. When I retire at nine—very late hour in a lumber camp—I wash those dishes a thousand times; if I go to bed fifteen minutes earlier—it's only 999. I wake up scouring the porridge pot.

I've been here ten days now, so you can't say I'm a quitter, anyway; and, honest, I'm learning to cook—so if you want to know what the well-dressed salad is wearing this season, just drop me a line. The boys here say I'm awfully good at mixing mustard, too—I keep the recipe pinned on the wall so I'd not forget it. I'm going to try making cookies out of these days; Cook says they're easy.

So far my main job has been waiting on table—and believe me, it has its trials—as for inst. some villain keeps putting the sugar spoon into his tea until it looks like a lollipop. I've been stalking the cupid now for days and when I catch up with him, I'm going to sneak up and smack him one over the head with our 18-inch pewter spoon.

I don't know when I'll get this letter posted, but the first chance—in she goes.

Your pal, ANNE.

AGREEABLE

An Aberdonian on a visit to a friend in London overstayed his welcome. It was getting towards Christmas and his host thought a kindly hint would have the desired result.

"Don't you think," he said, "that your wife and family will want you to be with them at Christmas?"

"Mon," replied the Aberdonian, "I believe you're right. It's rare thought of you. I'll send for them."

"What, ma?"

"Are you splitting in the fish bowl?"

"No, ma, but I'm coming pretty close."

Do You Know?

J. M. Southward,

who has been a resident of the Spruceville district since 1905. Mr. Southward was born and raised near Whitehaven, Cumberland, England, and received his school education there. Until the age of 21 years he worked on his father's farm, and in 1897 pulled up stakes and left home, coming to Canada. He made his first stop in Manitoba, working there until the spring of 1899, at which time the lure of the Klondike became overbearing and he went to Vancouver and by boat to Skagway. In the same year he journeyed over the famous Chilkoot Pass, along with hundreds of other men taking part in the famous Klondike gold rush.

For four years Mr. Southward prospected in the Klondike area. He spent considerable time in and around the Dawson City district, and during his stay there panned enough gold to make wages.

In 1905 Mr. Southward left the north country and for the next two years worked and mined in British Columbia and Vancouver Island. He was also employed for a short time in a large smelter on the mainland.

Purchased Half Section Lacombe first saw Mr. Southward in 1905, when he purchased a half section west of town. For the next seven years he operated this land, selling out the farm to J. W. Biglands in 1912, at which time he returned to the Old Country. While over there, Mr. Southward was married, and in the spring of 1913 he returned with his bride, to Lacombe, and purchased a quarter section four miles west of town on the Gull Lake tract.

Here Mr. and Mrs. Southward have lived since that time. They have two daughters, Jean and Rosalie, both living at home and one son Harry, who is serving in the Royal Canadian Air Force in Vancouver.

Mr. Southward was a councillor for the Municipal District of Crown in 1913 and '14 and served another term on the council in 1926 and 1927. He was a member of the Spruceville School Board for over ten years, but has since retired from this position.

Who Owns the Assets of Life Insurance Companies?

Answer.—These assets are jointly owned by more than 3,500,000 policyholders—men and women who constitute one-third of Canada's population.

Question.—What is the average share of each policyholder in these assets?

Answer.—About $571. This shows that Life Insurance assets are made up of the savings of millions of thrifty men and women.

Q.—What is the nature of Life Insurance funds?

A.—They are trust funds held by the Life Insurance companies to pay policy claims as they fall due.

Q.—How are these funds invested?

A.—In loans to governments and municipalities—for building homes and schools—for improving farms—for constructing good roads and transportation systems—for developing industries and public utilities.

Q.—To what extent does Alberta share in such investments?

A.—More than Ninety Million Dollars of Life Insurance funds are invested in this Province.

This is the third of a series of messages, sponsored by Life Insurance Companies operating in Canada. The fourth, to appear in two weeks' time, will discuss Life Insurance investments.

that no one will ask for a decision in the provincial courts that the Social Credit Act is illegal. The reason for that hope is that as long as the act is upon the statute books it can do no great harm. But if the act should be challenged officially and declared ultra vires in a provincial court, the Government would be able to climb to its political platforms again and cry that the reason it could not establish Social Credit was that the courts killed its legislation. And the Government would probably blame opposing political parties for it.

Three Bills Thrown Out

The three bills upon which the Lieutenant-Governor reserved his assent after they were passed by the Legislature last October were all declared ultra vires by the Supreme Court last Friday, and now are expected to be referred to the Privy Council at London for final judgment, with the Dominion Government again taking the initiative in having them tested. The three were: The Credit Regulation Bill, by which the province sought to get control of the policy of chartered banks operating in Alberta by appointing "directors" to govern every branch; the Bank Taxation bill, by which the Government attempted to get $2,000,000 a year out of the banks in addition to the $200,000 which they already pay the provincial Government in taxes; and the press bill, by which the Government sought to force Alberta daily and weekly newspapers to publish the "news and information" handed out by the Government propaganda bureau, with protection from court proceedings by anyone labelled in those statements, and to bar from newspaper columns any writer which the Social Credit board did not like.

As well as other reasons given in each case for declaring the bills unconstitutional, the court said that all of them were illegal anyway because they were based upon the Social Credit act, which itself was invalid, and which presumed to do things which were outside the province's jurisdiction.

Those decisions at Ottawa, added to previous court judgments in Edmonton, meant that 13 of the acts passed by the Alberta Legislature in the past two years have been scrapped by the courts.

Asks for Resignation

Conservative Leader Duggan in the Legislature last week, called upon the Government to resign, declaring that any other government in the British Empire would certainly resign when the legislation upon which it pretended to base its hope of fulfilling its election pledges was scrapped. But the Government said nothing.

Among other developments last week were the moratorium bill, which extends the past year's moratorium for another year, but by statute instead of by cabinet order as before; and the resolution by which the members of the House—rather, the Social Credit majority—voted to pay themselves $2,000 each per session instead of $1,800 as heretofore, adopting that resolution as an amendment to one introduced by non-caucus Social Crediters MacLellan and Blue, and supported by the opposition, to cut seasonal indemnities and cabinet salaries by 25 per cent in order to help meet the province's financial shortage.

Also new was a wage tax by which everyone in the province who is paid wages or salary is to have one per cent deducted from each pay envelope during the year by the employer, who is then to send the money to the superintendent of income tax at Edmonton. That wage-tax is to be applied against the income tax of the wage-earner, and if he is not liable to income tax, it is up to him to ask for a refund of the money at the end of the year.

Money Without Interest

There are more than 90,000 wage-earners in Alberta now, but only a few more than 20,000 are liable to income tax. Thus 70,000 persons who are not liable to income tax will be paying the wage-tax all year, giving the Provincial Government the use of that money without any interest, and then will be faced with the necessity of proving their rights to a refund. Not only cash payments are regarded as wages, because board and other allowances are specifically included. It is believed that many farm employees whose cash wages plus board can be considered to be worth more than $60 a month—the minimum under the wage tax bill—those farm employees will be liable to the tax. It is to come into force January 1 of next year, according to the bill.

Passion Play Star

Highest honor that can come to a girl from the tiny Bavarian village of Oberammergau is to play the role of the Virgin Mary in the Passion Play. In more than 300 years only one girl has twice been chosen for the coveted honor—Miss Anni Rutz, who is shown here in Hollywood. Miss Rutz, who has never used powder or lipstick and braids her hair in becoming simplicity, will return soon to her native mountain village for the election of the fortunate one who will be chosen to play the role in 1940—and the hope to again win the honor. The famous play was started in 1634 as a promise to God to check the Black Plague.

Double Bill at Avalon Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

To cater to the many expected visitors at the Horse Sale next Tuesday and Wednesday, the management of the Avalon Theatre will run a double feature next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This double bill will see Constance Bennett and Douglas Montgomery in "Everything Is Thunder" and a real Western picture with Dick Foran in "Blazing Sixes."

Francis Lederer and Madeline Carroll appear this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "It's All Yours," a mad-cap comedy which will keep you in laughing tears throughout the show.

CANADIAN EGG PRODUCTION

Approximately 99 per cent of the Canadian egg production is consumed in Canada. Apart from the possibility of a further increase in exports to the United Kingdom, states the Agricultural Situation and Outlook, there is no indication that the demand for eggs in 1938 will vary materially from that of 1937.

Tees Tattle Tales

By TATTLER

TEES. — Because of the large number of the leading lights laid up with the mumps and very little going on without them, it is going to be hard to gather enough news to fill a good paragraph.

Bill Ferguson visited the doctors in Lacombe, again Friday and after a little pounding was proclaimed fairly sound, but they instructed him to go easy until the danger point was absolutely past.

Basil Crank returned to Calgary on Monday to resume his duties at the Standard Scale Repair Shop.

Big Masquerade Dance

At the big masquerade dance held last Friday night, Miss Eileen Bravner walked off with the first prize for the ladies, and Miss Harvane Lawson, acting as a gentleman, carried away the gent's honors. Many and varied were the costumes. Several clowns made laughter easy, so all in all a good time was had, even if a gang of stick-ups went mumping just before the big night.

Miss Housen of Alx returned home Monday after spending the past two weeks with the mumps at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

A couple of hay and straw bales are still working north of town and a little loading going on, for the drought areas of Saskatchewan.

Waiting Their Turn

There are just a few people left who have had not the pleasure of feeling their necks or jaws swell up sometime during life. They are patiently waiting for their turn. Those who are now laid up are too numerous to mention, but they all have my sympathy.

Wallace MacMillan (brother of our M.L.A.) is back in bed suffering from results of his service overseas. Some have forgotten but not those with ailments that have stayed with them during the past 20 years—and Wallace has had his share of suffering since the day he signed up for service.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

At last Christian Science churches next Sunday, the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Substance." The following is one of the Scriptural quotations contained in the Lesson-Sermon: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is as follows (page 468): "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance."

Only TOP QUALITY BEEF is Graded...

RED Brand

"CHOICE" Quality beef, identified by the red, ribbon-like grade stamp.

BLUE Brand

"GOOD" Quality beef, identified by the blue, ribbon-like grade stamp.

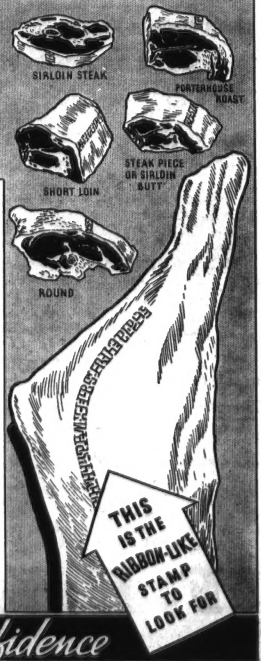

WHEN you ask for—and pay for—top-quality beef, you naturally want to be sure of getting it. Here is information from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, which enables you to buy this beef with confidence—knowing it is top-quality.

Only top-quality beef is graded according to Government standards... and there are but two grades—Red and Blue. Red Brand beef, "Choice" quality, is marked, with a red, ribbon-like stamp, so that part of this grade mark remains visible on every cut. Blue brand, "Good" quality, is marked similarly, with a blue ribbon-like stamp. To be sure of top-quality beef, therefore—look for some portion of the red or blue ribbon-like stamp on the cut you buy.

Do not confuse this round purple stamp with the grade mark mentioned above. This is the Government health stamp, which appears on all beef from Government-inspected abattoirs. It does not refer to quality but merely indicates that the beef is fit for human consumption.

Wares Starring

Eddie Ware, 22-year-old hockey rookie who joined Detroit Redwings a few weeks back, but still has a very strong string attached with the other end held by Manager Lester Patrick of New York Rangers, caused something of a sensation when he scored six goals and collected a pair of assists with the fading Stanley Cup-holders in nine games. Ware is a Calgary product and turned pro with Philly Ramblers in 1934. He won the shot put event for Canada's school-boy track team in Australia in 1934.

Westling

(From Our Own Correspondent)
 WESTLING.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Westling, accompanied by Miss Mabel Berenford, motored to Edmonton on Friday, returning on Saturday.

The English Church W.A. met at the home of Mrs. Dean on March 6.

Mrs. Stanchfield is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eddie Westling.

A baby shower was given to Mrs. Schesky last Thursday.

Dr. Black has purchased two new tractors.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeglum motored to Red Deer on Thursday.

At the card party held in the hall last Saturday night, first prizes in "500" went to Mrs. Axel Westling and Noyce Boddy; consolation prizes to Mrs. Scharna- weber and Earl Ditts.

A card party will be held in the Westling Hall on Saturday night, March 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell may be attending the I.O.O.F. convention in Edmonton.

CLOTHING NEEDED
 FOR WINFIELD DISTRICT

Calls for clothing for families in the Winfield and Breton district have been received by Rev. F. W. Coxson of the Free Methodist Church here. The congregation of this church has been asked by Rev. Coxson for contributions, but even more clothes are needed. A bundle will be leaving Lacombe Monday, March 14, and anyone having spare apparel around the house is asked to contact Rev. W. F. Coxson.

FLOWING STATISTICS

LITTLE BANKERS AND BIG BANKS

(A true story)

Bunny's father gets his pay cheque twice monthly, and Bunny's mother deposits it in one of the branches of The Royal Bank. Along with his mother treads four-year-old Bunny with a little iron bank tucked under his arm, into which he carefully put his savings.

While his mother is waiting for her book the bank manager lifts Bunny on to the counter, opens his bank, and counts his money, and then enters the amount in Bunny's savings bank book.

To Bunny these semi-monthly visits are but pleasant interludes in the active days of childhood; but to his father they have deep significance, for he sees, in the light of his own mature experience, the cultivation of a habit of thrift that will prove of great value to the boy as the years go on.

G. O. B. Gore-Hickman of Vegreville has recently been appointed Magistrate of Red Deer district. Previous to the new mag-

LOCAL GRAIN SHIPPED
The largest single shipment of grain to leave Lacombe this year was shipped last week by E. C. Chapman. Nine carloads of grain comprised the shipment.

John Harvie Sells Fine Stallion

John Harvie of Lacombe recently sold his imported stallion, Craigie Winsome Lad, for a reported price of $1700. This is the highest yet paid for a stallion under the Alberta Provincial Club Scheme. The horse was bought by the Clyde Horse Breeding Club of Vermilion, and will stand at the Demonstration Farm in that town.

Bred by A. Anderson of Burnton, Scotland, this stallion was imported in 1933 by Mr. Harvie and has been siring excellent stock. He is by the noted Scots horse Craigie Windol, and out of a dam by Benefactor.

Blackfalds

(From Our Own Correspondent)

BLACKFALDS.—A pleasant whist drive was held at the Pool Hall last Friday night, and although only six tables were in play, a most enjoyable evening resulted. The winners were Gents' first, Lorne Bell; ladies' first, Mrs. Warren; consolation went to Mr. Warren and Miss Gertrude Martin. All the prizes were woollen goods made by Buckman and were much appreciated, even the hobbles. Candies were served during the games, and then came the sandwiches and cakes. Afterwards, an impromptu dance was arranged, thanks to the music supplied by Vance Capron and his friend John, who also sang several selections during the evening. Messrs. Moir and Lawrence Martin showed us some intricate dance steps, which brought a hilarious evening—or rather, morning, for it was 3 a.m. when the dance broke up—to a close. It is hoped to arrange another such party in the near future. Mr. Gollightly, one of our old-timers, remarked that he had never before known Blackfalds to be so lively. Roy Mathias was the fortunate winner of a quilt during the evening.

Returns to Calgary

Miss Elsie Walker left on Saturday to return to Calgary. Ernie Olive left last week to take on work of cooking for a lumber sang near Ponoka, and later he has prospects of getting a trial at cooking for a hotel in Ponoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hedmark returned last week from a short visit with relatives near Calgary, where they went after their recent bereavement. We regret to announce that Mr. Fay, the oldest resident in the village, is seriously ill. He suffered a stroke last week and later fell out of bed during the night, which intensified the trouble. In spite of his illness, he is cheerful and we soon hope to report his recovery.

Makes Fine Brushes

Mr. Riis, who during the recent depression years showed many of his neighbors how to make the most of his every-day needs on the farm, has now come out as a brush-maker. During the week-end he brought two brushes to town for his daughter—the one a broom and the other a stove brush. The brushes are made of horsehair, which has been threaded through holes bored in a piece of wood. Despite the fact that the articles do not possess a factory finished appearance, they look remarkably well for home-made articles.

Chris Riis, Jr., has dissolved partnership with his old Ford and is now sporting a post-war model truck.

Mr. Kirkby has been on the sick list and his neighbors recently organized a bee to get in his winter's wood.

Lorne Bell continues to get in ice for residents in the village, and reports that the ice is still about 20 inches thick.

GASOLINE CHEAP PRODUCT

The market for petroleum products goes up or down as that for other commodities, being affected by general and local conditions. Most of all, it is affected by supply and demand.

As in the case of other commodities, if too much goes on the market, prices recede, if too little, prices go up. As a result of abundance and ever-increasing operating efficiency, on top of the keenest kind of competition, gasoline prices have declined in an almost unbroken curve to much less than they were in 1920.

It is true that gasoline is cheap, and only the tax is high.

A recent comparison of average hourly wages paid by an efficient U.S. refinery of fair size in 1920, with those paid in 1937, expressed in terms of gasoline purchasing power (not including the tax), shows that the refinery worker could buy in 1920 slightly over two gallons of gasoline with an hour's wage, while in 1937, he is able to buy about 6½ gallons of gasoline with his hour's wage.

Grant Hankins has returned home after spending a few weeks' visiting his sister Nora. Returns from the Coast.

Vernon McCallum has returned home from the Coast, where he has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Arthur Langley, for the last month.

Arthur Willson has been hauling in some grain for Mr. Ford in Spring Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucky and daughter from Rimbey were visiting friends in Chigwell on Sunday last.

Fern Willson was home on Sunday from Clive.

WE PIONEERED the PLAINS TOGETHER

RIGHT from the earliest days in the development of the North-West Territories—when from the East courageous farmers set out to pioneer in the new land—the interests of Massey-Harris have been closely linked with those of the Western farmer.

Accompanying the pioneers were the men bent on lending assistance by providing specially designed implements and machines—the only means to enable the taming of these wild acres.

Before the first transcontinental railway had traversed the New West, implements of the Harris Company had found their way to the prairies. Then in 1879 a distributing branch was set up in Winnipeg. Even in then far off Prince Albert, the Company opened up business in 1883, when the only communication was by boat from Selkirk. And when, in 1884, the Canadian Pacific reached as far west as Troy, now Qu'Appelle, the Company's machines were shipped from there to Prince Albert, 300 miles away, in Red River carts.

By experimenting under the different and difficult field conditions of the Canadian West, the Company has developed and introduced from time to time, equipment which has enabled the farmer to meet successfully the exacting demands of Western farming, and make his operations profitable.

The providing of exceptionally liberal credit in the early days was appreciated by the pioneer with limited capital at his disposal, and the consideration extended at all times to the farmer in difficulties has gained for the Company an enviable reputation.

As a Canadian company, Massey-Harris is happy to have had this part in pioneering the plains, and regards seriously the responsibility its position in Western agriculture places upon it.

Saskatchewan Farmer Reclaims Drifted Land

SILTON, Sask.—John Dale, operator of a 1,000-acre farm near here, following several experiments has succeeded in re-claiming drifted land with rye grass.

As the result of his successful experiment, Mr. Dale, who has never yet accepted relief of any kind, hopes to have enough feed to carry 30 head of cattle and 10 head of horses through this winter.

"I think farmers will have to seed more grass in the future if we are going to bring our farms back; grass is the only salvation for drifted soil," claimed Mr. Dale, who has been a resident of Siltion district since 1884.

"Another good thing about rye grass I've found is that it will choke out Russian thistle as nothing else will."

Although only 4,000 bushels of wheat were brought into the Siltion elevators this year, Mr. Dale was one of the few farmers to thresh any crop.

His Thatcher wheat averaged four and a half bushels to the acre while he harvested three and a half bushels an acre from his stand of Reeward.

He said that although he had found Thatcher less rust and drought resistant, he intended to go in more for Reeward. "We're not sure how the United Kingdom millers are going to take the Thatcher. Samples have been sent over and they're still making tests with it," he said.

Mr. Dale said he had experimented with several grasses including brome, created wheat grass and rye grass and had found rye grass the most suitable.

He did not recommend cutting the grass the first year unless the crop was thick enough to pick up with a rake. "Leave it and keep the stock off as much as possible and then the following year it's easier to get and it leaves a clean field with the old stuff in the bottom," he stated.

Here 53 Years

Mr. Dale, who is one of the early settlers here, came to this district as a boy with his father from St. Andrew's, Quebec, 53 years ago.

"I'm going to keep on experimenting," he said, "it's the only way a farmer can find out what is suitable for his own kind of soil." He has 60 loads of hay to carry him through the winter and has enough seed wheat and oats on hand to seed his large farm in the spring.

The World of Wheat

By MAJOR H. L. STRANGE

There has recently occurred a decided slump in the prices of stocks, shares and commodities in the United States. This has had its effect upon prices in Canada, including that of wheat.

Some people are fearful that an intense world-wide depression, such as occurred in 1929, is upon us again.

For my own part I do not agree with this pessimistic view. It seems to me there were very good reasons for the temporary recession that has taken place in the United States.

The prices of stocks, shares and commodities, including wheat, are not, I believe, too high; indeed not high enough is my own personal view; and for this simple reason: The value of money in terms of gold in Great Britain, the United States and Canada has been inflated since 1914 by 69 per cent; in many other countries by a greater percentage, but the prices of commodities, stocks, shares and so forth, on the average, have only risen since 1914 by about 25 per cent.

Eventually, it seems to me, the full 69 per cent increase in the prices of all goods, commodities, wages and salaries, must take place, for history tells us that ever in the past the prices of all things have increased, after a time, by exactly the same percentage as the money was inflated.

The following factors have tended to raise prices—Dust storms and lack of moisture in the U.S. winter wheat belt; Russian wheat reserves low and further exports likely to be unimportant; Spain makes further wheat purchases; India out of export business until next April; Norwegian potato crop is smaller than year ago.

The following factors have tended to lower prices—European crops mostly satisfactory; Moderate rains benefit Argentine corn; Timely snows prevent crop damage in Danubian countries; Turkey becomes wheat exporter; Brazilian wheat bread flour must contain 30 per cent of domestic flour; Uruguay has a larger wheat crop than last year; good crop conditions in Chili.

Short Wave Used to Treat Colds

The short wave therapy machine is the latest weapon in the armory of science in the war against the common cold. Here Mrs. Elizabeth Totman (right), R.N., short wave clinic executive at the Boston dispensary, demonstrates how patients are treated. The Boston dispensary is the first American hospital to make use of this large type machine in combating the annoying winter ailment. Short waves are also used in treating sinus infections, carbuncles and certain deep-seated abscesses.

THE DISGUISE

The newly-weds had just got off their train.

"John, dear," said the bride, "let's try to make the people think we've been married a long time."

"All right, honey," was the answer. "You carry the suitcases."

Sport-Scope

By JACK McCAUGHERY

Glancing through an old Edmonton Journal of Aug. 20, 1924, I came across a sport write-up of a football tilt between Lacombe and Ponoka. The column ran:

"The closing tilt between two old rival football teams, Ponoka and Lacombe, was played on Lacombe's ground last night. Both teams were very evenly matched, no goals being scored by either team. As this game was a friendly match the football fans from both towns were bigly satisfied with the result."

"The ladies of Lacombe, under the able management of Mrs. Dyke, furnished the party with a banquet."

"D. Carlier, president of the Lacombe team, opened the evening's entertainment by a short address, stating that the record of the Lacombe team during the season rightly earned them the Snell silver shield. The record of games is as follows:

"League games: Played six, won four, lost two. Goals for, 27; against, 5. Season games: Played 17, won 12, lost 3, drawn 2, goals for, 49; against, 13."

Local sporting activities such as this are very interesting and Sport-Scope is very anxious to publish these "sports of the days gone by." I would be more than pleased to get in touch with any person who could give information on any actions in this line.

Other Dots and Dashes from the aged newspaper:—

World's heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey was having his nose remodeled for his work in connection with motion pictures. This "new" nose was talked of as a perfect target for his next opponent. However, Dempsey's next opponent—Luis Angel Firpo if I'm not mistaken—didn't get much time to work on Jack's plastic surgery, as the fight finished in the first round.

The Giants and the Yankees, both of New York, were leading the two big baseball leagues. . . . Washington Senators were second in the American, while the Pittsburgh Pirates were on the heels of first slot in the other section. . . . Tommy Gibbons defeated Jack Bloomfield, light-heavyweight champion of England, in the third round of a scheduled 12-round bout. . . . The Hamilton Tigers were considered the strongest rugby squad in the East.

BACK TO THE PRESENT—

The National Hockey League is once again in the home stretch. And as the last lap comes in, Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins are out on the top of the heap and more than likely will remain there. On the other ends of the line Montreal Maroons are definitely out and although Detroit has chances (and hopes) of climbing from the cellar before the play-offs start, things don't point that way. As in which team the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's championship, will go, it is hard to say. The Bostonians seem to be the pick as the strongest team but then it doesn't always work out that way. The fast-stepping Rangers, Leafs and the Canadians cannot be overlooked, nor can the star-studded Americans. As for Chicago, I wouldn't put my nickel on them.

Morningside

(From Our Own Correspondent)

MORNINGSIDE.—A military whist drive and pie social was held in the schoolhouse last Wednesday evening but owing to the bad condition of the roads, not many were present. Honors went to the Misses Kathleen Jones and Flora MacKinnon. W. J. Morris and Mr. Beranek. The sale of pies then took place and a pleasant hour was spent.

Mrs. Rich of Gadsby is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Bowie.

W. J. Morris spent the week-end with friends in Edmonton.

Finger Badly Crushed

A. C. Bowie had a finger badly crushed recently, it being drawn into a pulley.

John Caswell fell on the slippery road one day last week and is quite badly used up.

Among those on the sick list are Mrs. F. E. Clemons, Paul Fleming and little Shirley Lewis.

Mrs. Bruce Stephens received word a few days ago that her uncle, Otto Lux, had passed away at his home in Idaho. Mr. Lux is well known in this community.

DAD COULD USE A LOAN

The rich young man approached the girl's father with some misgivings.

"Er—er, I suppose, sir," he began, nervously, "that you are aware I have been making advances to your daughter?"

Father patted him on the back. "Yes, and now what about her poor old Dad, eh?"

CANNED GOODS SHIPMENTS

Canada is the largest shipper of canned corn, and pork and beans, to New Zealand. At one time Canada was the largest exporter of green peas to New Zealand, but recently Australia has gone ahead of Canada.

BORROWING AT THE BANK to provide a Harvest

LACOMBE

A Piece of Cloth

CLOTH is very old. It is as old as man-made fire or man-made shelters. It is older than pottery. No matter how far back into mankind's earliest beginnings the professors of history may search, they find that cloth is even older than history.

ALL DOWN THE CENTURIES, people the world over have spun and woven cloth. They made it in China, in the Nile Valley, in ancient Greece. The Indians of our continent produced very good cotton and woollen cloth.

TODAY in Canada we make excellent cloth. The textile industry furnishes employment to one out of every five industrial workers in this country. In 2,234 textile establishments, 118,000 men and women have steady jobs, year in and year out, winters as well as summers. The goods that they make form 13 per cent. of our total industrial production.

DOMINION TEXTILE COMPANY has been making cloth since the early part of this century. A Canadian company, financed by Canadian money, employing Canadians in six towns of Quebec province, this company feels that the cloth which it weaves is the equal of any produced in the long history of this ancient art.
